Section 2: Short Answer Questions

1. What was the pronoun used to describe the 1980's? What did that mean?
_______________________________________________________________________
_______________________________________________________________________

2. What literary movement from the late 1800's began to make a comeback during the 1970's and 1980's?
_______________________________________________________________________
_______________________________________________________________________
_______________________________________________________________________

3. What group of writers began to find their voices in a new way in the 1980's?
_______________________________________________________________________

4. What are 2 methods of characterization?
_______________________________________________________________________
_______________________________________________________________________
_______________________________________________________________________

5. What is a common theme in American Literature?
_______________________________________________________________________
6. In a play, how can we learn the thoughts of characters?

7. What point of view allows the reader to know what all of the characters are thinking?

8. What three things make up dialogue?

9. In critical reading what does the first read give you?

10. What is double-entry journaling?